

ORPIC is gold sponsor of Oman Web Awards

The Oman Oil Refineries and Petroleum Industries Company (ORPIC) has pledged support to the Oman Web Awards 2011 as the gold sponsor of the event.

This sponsorship is in tune with its aggressive expansion policy as well as its commitment to the environment, ensuring safety of its people, its plants, environment and local communities on a first-priority basis. It further affirms its broader objective of creating a profitable business, which delivers benefits to its shareholders and the Government of Oman.

Created from the integration of three companies - Oman Refineries and Petrochemicals Company (ORPC), Aromatics Oman (AOL) and Oman Polypropylene (OPP) - ORPIC is one of Oman's largest companies and is one of the rapidly growing businesses in the Middle East's oil industry.

It believes in maintaining a positive connect with its people as well as the country, through the media, mainly the website. It is this commitment to the people and the underlying drive to expand and exceed the set targets that were identified and rewarded by Oman Web Awards, earning ORPC, an integrated company of ORPIC, the award in the oil and gas category, on two separate occasions.

In the current edition of the web awards, Orpic has enlisted its participation in the oil and gas as well as HSE categories, and is confident of finding its website in the winning list.

"We are confident of making our presence in the World Wide Web felt by scores of our business dealers, retailers, well-wishers as well as our people, our core assets, who are immediately able to make a connect with the organisation. We are well aware of the importance of websites in reaching out to millions of people."